

SOLUTION BRIEF

Credential Management

Modernizing OHS & Regulatory Training and Industry Credentialing

Background

All industries are experiencing a rapid acceleration in technology and process change that is driving a corresponding requirement for advanced training and credential management.

Workers need efficient and continuous OHS/Regulatory training; while employers and regulators need real-time access to credentials for validation. In most jurisdictions, the process is fraught with outdated tools and inefficient manual processes.

Effective training and credentialing requires innovative technologies that go far beyond the capabilities of traditional Learning Management Solutions. Progressive jurisdictions have navigated the challenge by moving beyond these organizational-siloed tools instead deploying industry connected and accessible solutions.

Governments and industry agencies must leverage platforms that connect all stakeholders to efficiently and effectively deliver training, provision certificates, and validate worker credentials.

And that's the power you get with SkillsPass. Our industry-proven platform helps modernize training and credential management in partnership with our customers and their external training providers. The output is the training equivalent of an electronic medical record system.
